All of the feedback to the ITC from attendees and instructors has been overwhelming. To that end, the committee is planning on providing another structural training session in 2013. The proposed site so far is Orlando, Florida with a backup site in the state of Washington. As time gets closer, the Structural program will be fine-tuned from the past program to try and address all comments from attendees.

Any and all comments to help improve the structural PIRT are welcome!

For the committee:
